RECONCILIATION

(2 Cor. 5:18)

God is the author of Reconciliation. To reconcile is to destroy the barrier, the dividing wall of hostility between two parties. Anyone who works out reconciliation is a friend of God. Anyone who destroys relationships is not a friend of God.

Forgiveness is the price to pay for reconciliation to take place. The greatest work of reconciliation ever done was God reconciling man to Himself (John 3:16). The work of reconciliation has now been given to man (2Cor.5: 18, 19).

Reconciliation:

- 1.Is a Command
- 2.Brings Healing
- 3.Works Restoration
- 4.Promotes Peace
- 5.Is an Act of Worship

Reconciliation is a key pillar of covenant relationships. Reconciliation draws nations to Christ (John 13:34, 35).

Reconciliation invites God's blessings (Psa. 133). Broken relationships are open doors for the devil, diseases, discouragement, wars and confusion to take place.

Unresolved grudges don't just go away – they need resolution. Unresolved grudges can affect the destinies of individuals, families, churches, organizations, careers, businesses, cities, Nations etc. Jacob sought Esau his twin brother and their reconciliation was a blessing (Gen. 33). Reconciliation is possible today through the power of the Holy Spirit.

Be Reconciled!
